HUNGARIAN GOOSE DOWN

Hungarian White Goose Down

Duvs - One of the Best

Hungarian white goose down has the reputation of being one of the best mature goose downs in the industry. It is light weight, has a high fill power and provides great insulation. This high-grade goose down is attainable through favourable Hungarian geographic and climatic conditions, century old traditions and conscious purification of geese through stringent breeding practices.

Hungary is Europe's largest natural grassland. Most of the breeding farms are located near Hungary's 5 National Parks. The clean environment and classic continental climate result in a better quality of goose down. Hungary's historic down industry is one of the most developed. That's why Hungary is the most significant down exporter in the world with annual sales of 4,000 tons of high quality feathery down.

Hungarian white goose down provides the best weight to warmth ratio of any bedding product, which helps keep you comfortable throughout the night. Never too warm, and never too cool. It allows your body to breath during the night helping to minimize over heating resulting in a comfortable night's sleep.

So turn down your thermostat, and stay perfectly balanced during the night with a Hungarian White Goose Down Duvet from Maholi.
