EUROPEAN DOWN DUVETS

Great Value, Great Quality

From the Great Pyrenees of Europe

Europe has a long and reputable relationship when it comes to use of down duvets. Their knowledgeable history of geese and duck farming, along with exceptional harvesting methods helps to create this wonderful product. Down is collected from the farms on the north side (France) and the south side (Spain) of the Pyrenees Mountains.

On these farms, people still use traditional farming skills with the raising ducks and geese. They are raised in a free range surrounding at 600m ~ 800m above sea level. The down is not harvested until the ducks are completely mature weighting 5.5 to 6 kg. This mature down is considered the most valuable and has large and ample clusters which results in higher lofting ability and resilience.

With its high fill power and greater elasticity, this superior quality European Down creates miniscule air pockets that will give this duvet the added benefits of warmth, while remaining light, lofted and extremely durable.

An European Down Duvet is the smart choice for added comfort and a good night's sleep.
